

LANGUAGE EDUCATION AS A CAREER DEVELOPMENT STRATEGY

Introduction. Learning a foreign language has become essential to professional development in today's globalized world. As companies continue to expand their operations internationally, the ability to communicate in multiple languages is no longer just a personal skill, but a strategic tool for career growth and success.

The purpose of this work is to examine the influence of learning languages on career paths and working environments.

Presenting main material. Knowing foreign languages has always been a good skill because it not only adds comfort to everyday life but also expands career choices. Nowadays, numerous companies undertake projects at the international level, and English language proficiency is becoming a crucial requirement for participating in such projects. The capability to work in English provides a competitive edge in being selected for involvement in global and international initiatives. Learning a new language can also improve your studying ability as you can find more sources of information. Any language learning process tightly connected to the culture of different countries, it can help gain more cultural connections. Foreigners tend to prioritize quick solutions, but misunderstandings can lead to hasty cancellations. Understanding cultural differences can positively impact communication, career growth, and investigating an international markets what is also expanding your knowledge in a field of work and makes you an better employee.

Knowing industry terminology is highly beneficial for career advancement. Professionals can communicate more effectively with colleagues, clients, and stakeholders, as well as demonstrate their expertise and knowledge in their respective fields. Improving your English language skills has a positive impact on your career progression and the ability to earn higher salaries. Many international companies acknowledge that employees with English language skills are a more valuable asset and are willing to pay them higher salaries.

Knowing several languages not only opens up more job opportunities but also gives you a competitive advantage over other candidates. Being fluent in a foreign language facilitates communication and allows you to communicate with people from different countries in different positions without the need for translators or interpreters.

Learning more than one language can boost cognitive abilities by enhancing executive functions such as attention, working memory, and cognitive flexibility. These skills are crucial for problem-solving, decision-making, and adapting to new situations, which are essential for today's rapidly changing work environment. It has been proven that people who know two or more languages demonstrate higher levels of cognitive control. Higher cognitive control skills improve the ability to effectively switch between tasks and manage large amounts of information, including managing multiple streams of information.

Conclusion. Learning a foreign language is a valuable investment for professional development that yields benefits in terms of personal satisfaction, cognitive development, and professional growth. In today's world, knowing more than one language is not just an advantage but a necessity. With proper strategies in place, professionals can successfully incorporate language learning into their career development plans, opening a world of opportunities and enriching their professional careers.

REFERENCES

1. Newman L. The Economic Impact and Effects of Learning a Second Language : Economics Undergraduate Honors Theses. Fayetteville, 2023. URL: <https://scholarworks.uark.edu/econuht/51> (date of access: 09.03.2024).
2. Operation Xcel Blog. Operation Xcel STEM Afterschool and Summer programs in the Greensboro, High Point, Gibsonville, Jamestown, and Stokesdale, NC Area. Operation Xcel engages students, parents, and the community to increase educational, social, and career skills through acad. URL: https://operationxcel.org/news/blog.html/article/2023/03/20/6-benefits-of-learning-another-language?gad_source=1&gclid=CjwKCAiAlcyuBhBnEiwAOGZ2Szd46cFrhpBy7Y48_E1UrMxtJ2HAgXjf7CrwDZGACvp14H2W05BUUxoCByAQAvD_BwE (date of access: 22.03.2024).

3. The Impact of Translation on Global News Reporting. Anan Enterprises. URL: <https://ananenterprises.com/the-impact-of-translation-on-global-news-reporting/> (date of access: 07.03.2024).