

MASTERING FOREIGN LANGUAGES AS A FACTOR IN ENHANCING PROFESSIONAL AND EDUCATIONAL OPPORTUNITIES OF CITIZENS OF OTHER COUNTRIES

In today's globalized world, mastering foreign languages has become not only an advantage but also a necessity. Language is a bridge between cultures, countries, and people, and its knowledge opens up new educational, professional, and personal perspectives.

To analyze how mastering foreign languages contributes to expanding the opportunities of citizens of other countries in the field of education and professional development [1, p.3].

International students who come to Ukraine to study are faced with a new language environment. Learning Ukrainian or English as the language of instruction is a key factor in their integration into the educational process and society. Knowledge of the language allows students not only to better understand the material but also to actively participate in discussions, present projects, and undergo internships in companies [3, p.154]. Moreover, mastering several language is a competitive advantage in the labor market. In many international companies, multilingualism is a decisive criterion for employment. Real-life examples – students who study Ukrainian or English have more chances to enter a master's degree program, receive grants, or find work in an international environment.

Mastering foreign languages is one of the most important tools for the personal and professional growth of citizens of other countries. It is not only a means of communication but also a resource for achieving new heights in education, career, and life in general. Mastering languages contributes to better adaptation of students to a new educational and cultural environment, facilitates communication with teachers and classmates, and promotes active participation in international programs and academic exchanges. In addition, mastering languages expand access to relevant scientific sources, literature, and educational resources, which ultimately forms a more competitive and self-confident specialist in the global labor market.
